The attachment, allegedly extracted from an official document, shows the 1953 liquid fuel and paraffin production plan for SAG liquid fuel plants and supplies. It replaces a previous plan which was rejected by the Council of Ministers. The plan is in two parts. One shows the liquid fuel plant involved, the type of product, the amount of the product produced by each plant and the total planned amount of each type of product. The second part gives the planned distribution of these products by the following major categories: East German requirements, export, interzonal trade, requirements of the Soviet Army in East Germany and Soviet reparations requirements. All quantities are in metric tons. The date of validity of the plan is 15 January 1953.
